DETAILED ACTION

1. This Office action is in response to Application No. 09/588,350, filed on 06/07/2000.
2. Claims 1-26 are presented for examination.

Claim Objections

3. Claim 6 is objected to because of the following informalities. Claim 6 can not depend on claims 3 and 5. Claim 10, line 8, the word "stow" should be changed to "show" Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3621

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the

5. Claims 1-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102 (e) as being anticipated by Walker et al. (U.S. pat. No. 6,240,396).

As per claims 1, 3-26 Walker discloses a system/method for managing conditional purchase offers, where an individual searching for a ticket to a particular event may provide a guarantee purchase offer to a plurality of potential sellers (which is seen to read as Applicant's claimed invention wherein it is stated that a method of processing an issuance of electronic rights information in a rights information processing system in which a user terminal unit, an issuer unit, and an account unit are interconnected on a communication network) comprising:

transmitting an account address and a demand for issuance from a user terminal unit to an issuer unit (see., fig 5C, col 4, lines 62-67, col 5, lines 1-4); causing the issuer unit to transmit the demand for issuance to an account unit which corresponds to the account address (see., abstract, col 7, lines 58-67, col 8, lines 1-62);

to obtain a user identifier from the account unit (see., Fig 5C, col 4, lines 62-67, col 5, lines 1-7);

to prepare electronic rights information inclusive of the user identifier (see., Fig 5C, col 4, lines 62-67, col 5, lines 1-7);

Art Unit: 3621

and to transmit the electronic rights information to the account unit (see., col 7, lines 58-67, col 8, lines 1-62); and causing the account unit to store the electronic rights information in a storage (see., Fig 5C, col 4, lines 62-67, col 5, lines 1-7, table 530, ID or signature).

As per claim 2, Walker discloses the claimed method, comprises:

causing the issuer unit to access the account address of the user upon receiving the demand for issuance (see., abstract, col 7, lines 58-67, col 8, lines 1-62);

causing the accessed account unit to transmit a certificate of account address which guarantees a correspondence relationship between the account address assigned to the user and an identifier of the user of the account unit to the issuer (see., col 7, lines 58-67, col 8, lines 1-25, electronic acceptance or certificate);

causing the issuer unit to verify the certificate of account address and allowing it to use the identifier of the user contained in the certificate of account address as the user identifier upon successful verification (see., Fig 5C, col 4, lines 62-67, col 5, lines 1-7).
